SaniMASTER

The Leading Edge of Disinfection

GROW BUSINESS. NOT GERMS.

Throughout the Covid-19 pandemic, businesses of all types have had to redesign how work gets done.

Navigating the uncertainty of connecting with colleagues and clients while staying focused on driving business results has been a daunting task.

As offices re-open, we must be vigilant on environmental safety to ensure employees, clients, and visitors are both empowered and reassured that they can return to the office without skipping a beat.

SaniMaster is the hospital quality disinfection service that ensures work spaces are healthy spaces by application of CDC-recommended protocols using EPA-registered products and delivered by health-trained technicians.*

*SaniMaster technicians are trained through programs offered by the Association for Health care Environment (AHE) of the American Hospital Association. This is the leading organization supporting environmental services training for the healthcare industry.
